2025

The Dutch Medicines Days gather professionals from drug discovery, development, use, and the broader pharmaceutical sciences to exchange the latest scientific insights, results, experiences, and information, fostering collaboration at both national and international levels. This year's DMD conference, themed "New Frontiers in Drug Innovation," is organized jointly by FIGON and the British Pharmacological Society. Participants will have opportunities to attend keynote speeches, in-depth sessions, and poster presentations, enabling them to gain valuable insights, share ideas, and forge partnerships that will shape the future of healthcare.
